aboard the train. He deposited his bottles inside, and then came out and stood discreetly on the rear platform of the car, giving the young lovers a chance to make their affectionate farewells.

Just as the bell was pulled and the train moved slowly out, young Wickes jumped blithely off the car and met the reporter face to face.

But Young Wickes Expects to Follow and Utilize the License.

ELDER BROTHER APPEARS

ELDER BROTHER APPEARS

And Takes the Angry, Weeping, Unwilling Bride-to-Be Back to Her Mother.

All day yesterday the Harrison residence at 224 Pine street attracted the attention of passers-by, for it had again, as many times before, been the scene of a domestic drama in the Wickes family.

Wednesday it held within its interesting walls the blithe young daughter of a Kansas City millionaire, Miss Nannie J. Nelson, and the chance?" queried the serbe.

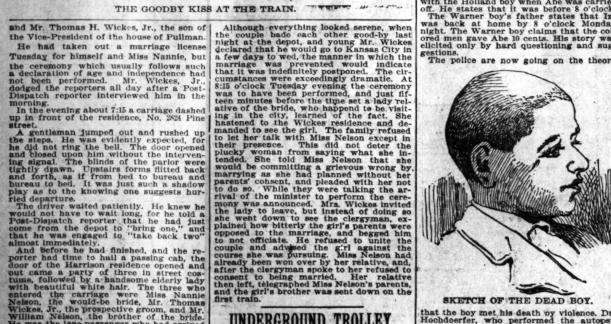

"Well, I'll tell you," answered the young gentleman in a husky voice, for he had been weeping, and his eyelidg were still moist-"Nannie's mother is very ill. She and her daughter have been great chums, they have never been separated, and of course they just hate to give ber up. I didn't want to do this thing without their consent. They are my friends and I wouldn't do anything they didn't want me to do. Nannie and I came here Monday night, and took out the license on Tuesdoil, as you know. But telegrams came thick and fast of Mirs. Nelson's liness, and so Nannie is going home with her brother. My business will keep me here two or three days longer. By that time Mrs. Nelson will have sufficiently recovered to permit the ceremony to take place. I am going over to Kansas City in a day or two, and will be married there."

And with that the handsome young fellow sulped down a lump in his throat, and disappeared among the crowd.

Miss Nannie Nelson is a tall willowy girl with auburn hair, and a fair complexion. In spite of the mental agony which her face betrayed, it is a handsome countenance. Her brother is somewhat smaller of stature, and he, too, has auburn hair, the family characteristic of the Nelsons.

At 10 o'clock this afternoon a bright, pretty little girl called at the Coroner's office and asked to see Coroner Atkinson. She told him her name was Lulu Dell, that she is 13 years old and lives with her parents at 1308 Biddle street. Then she made the following statement, which was taken down by the Coroner's clerk and sworn to. It reads: "Yesterday morning about 10:30 o'clock, April 24, I went to Mr. Cohen's house to see come from the depot to "bring one," and that he was engaged to "take back two" aimost immediately.

And before he had finished, and the reporter had time to hall a passing cab, the door of the Harrison residence opened and out came a party of three in street costume, followed by a handsome elderly lady with beautiful white hair. The three who entered the carriage were Miss Nannie Nelson, the would-be bride, Mr. Thomass Wickes, Jr., the brospective groom, and Mr. William Nelson, the brother of the bride-He was the lone passenger who had arrived from Kansas City a half hour before and who was now taking his sister back with him on the 8:25 Wabash train. The elderly lady bade the party arrived at the depot young Wickes rushed off to secure the drawing-room for his intended and her brother. This was the first opportunity the young lady had to express her displeasure at the sudden interference with her matrimonial dreams by her family. Her face was tearstained and showed traces of suffering, but she talked vehemently and indignantly at "Brother Will." who looked perturbed and cast anxious glarices about him, lest someone might overhear his sister's angry tirade, which he met with absolute silence. Then young Wickes came back with the tickets, bought a Post-Dispatch from a newsboy in the mid-way and another on the platform of the train, and bundled the party off into the drawing-room of the rear sleeper on the Wabash bound for Kansas City.

The reporter, too, crossed the bars, and and the girl's parents the couple and advised the girl against the couple and advised the girl and burged to the marriage, and begged him and begged him and begged him and begged him and burged with the brother. that the boy met his death by violence. Dr. Hochdoerfer, who performed the autopsy on the body, stated to a Post-Dispatch reporter that death was due to the swelling of the membrane and glands of the throat. "Would that necessarily indicate a natural death?" he was asked.

"No. The inflammation and swelling might be caused by suffocation instead of being the cause of it. There were no lacerations of the membranes or of any of the organs of the throat, however."

"Could not suffocation be produced without those appearances?"

"Oh, yes; a towel held over the throat would not leave any marks, yet would cause the inflammation and swelling inside the throat. Then, too, any gas would have the same effect. A pillow over the mouth would result similarly. Holding the hand over the mouth and nostrifs, too, would cause death and produce the same indication on the interior of the throat. Sticking the finger down the throat, too, or a rag in the mouth, might also have been used in this case. No marks would be left save the swelling and inflammation. "Such would probably be followed by marks would be left save the swelling and inflammation.

"Such would probably be followed by convulsions, which would perhaps, account for the fact that the cinders where the boy was found, were somewhat forn up, and his writhings and clutchings would account for the cinders in the boy's mouth. In this case there is absolutely no way of ascertaining by a post-mortem examination whether the boy died a natural death or from foul play. That will have to be established by circumstantial or other evidence, to be secured by the police."

SAND-BAGGED A GIRL. Mabel Clark Brutally Assaulted and Kidnapped.

Special to The Fost-Dispatch.

HERINGTON, Kas., April 25.—Mabel Clark, the 15-year-old niece of Engineer George Brunson of Herington, was sand-bagged and kidnapped about 9 o'clock last night by an unknown man, and carried to a rendezvous a few miles west of Herington. The girl escaped after a hard fight, and was found wandering on the prairie by a search party, which started from the town, being called together by the fire whistle when her absence was discovered. The girl described her captors as three men in a camper's wagon, and says she was insensible for some time after being sandbagged. The party went west, and searchers are after them. The girl is badly bruised and her clothing nearly torn off.

TRUST DESPOTISM.

New York Retail Butchers Dare Not Talk About It.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 25.—When the price of beef went up several weeks ago the retail butchers loudly denounced the Western trust, which they said was responsible for it all.

All this is changed now. The retailers no longer blame the trust. They are even inclined to deny that they ever knew or heard anything about a trust.

The World has discovered the reason for this sudden change of front. When the discussion of the trust's despotism was at its height word was passed along the line that the combine would cease to furnish meat to those who tall set to much. Several large wholesale firms, through whom the trust furnishes this dity with meat, conveyed the intelligence to the retailers, and there immediately ceased to be any clamor about the trust.

Under a solemn promise to withhold their identity, several butches imparted this information to a reporter;

"When we are asked why beef is so high-priced," said one in the Washington Market, "we have been instructed to searche it to over-demand and under-production, and to the circumstance that cattle have been fed this season on the best corn. The truth is last the other way. Course more caree,

A True Tale From Real Life of Love and Divorce.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 25.—Theodore Jacobi, a glove-cutter, married Mary Matheson, a Syracuse girl, about twenty-one years ago, but they separated. Several years after, Mrs. Jacobi, who died the other day, married another Syracuse man, by whom ried Kathlene Frisch, a young girl. In the course of a year she persuaded him to join the Catholic Church. When he made his first confession the fact of his previous marriage came out, and the priest forced the couple to separate. Jacobi went to Toledo. He kept up a correspondence with his second wife, however, and finally returned.

Then the whole case was laid before a board of priests and Bishop Ryan. They agreed to allow Jacobi and his wife to live together as brother and sister. The woman's mother lived with them fourteen years and Jacobi's mother three years. These relatives will bear witness to the fact that the couple lived chaste, pure lives and obeyed all the mandates of the Church.

For seventeen years their secret was kept, but an accident brought it to light and the neighbors began to gossip. Frank H. Roll, a nephew of Jacobi, nearly a year ago came to board at the Jacobi home and promptly fell in love with, his aunt. She reciprocated his affection, but explained her peculiar position to Roll, whom she had known for fifteen years. She asked Jacobi about the matter and urged that it was the best thing she could do to silence the tongue of gossip. He objected so strongly that Roll and the woman slipped away to New York and were married. This was on the 23d of last March. Jacobi at first objected, but after the couple had changed their residence to quiet the scandal he went back to board with them.

FRIGHTENED OFF.

An Expected Train Hold-Up Which Did Not Take Place.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

ATCHISON, Kan., April 25.—The Missouri Pacific officials here yesterday afternoon received information of a plot to hold up the Central Branch incoming train between Goffs and Corning, where it passed about midnight. When the train arrived at Frankfort, a flat car was placed between the smoker and mail car, and a posse concealed itself behind the sideboards. The robbers did not make the attempt, and it is supposed that they got wind of the reception awaiting them and fled. The citizens of Goffs were up in arms and waiting to go in pursuit of the robers.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 25.—After the House reconvened yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and Crisp of Jackson had gabbled for a *couple of hours Hinde of Kansas City, seeming to fear that the Post-Dispatch might escape, offered another resolution. Here it is:

HE SEES IT.

Davidson was up again, mad all over, with a point of order.

"Let him go," shouted Julian. "Does the Governor's message hit you?" addressing Salior; "I don't take it to myself."

Salior dodged the question and attacked Davidson. The only objection he had heard to the fellow-servant bill, he said, was because of the Davidson amendment, which had been charged to lobby influences.

Davidson didn't hear him distinctly and asked whether he meant to say that he had been associated with the lobby.

Salior said he didn't.

Pritchard of Howard referred to the men who had attacked the Governor as a "pack of human hyenas." By this time everybody in the House was mad. The air was charged with electricity. "I have no respect for the man who speaks of the Governor of the State as Bill Stone. He is beneath my respect."

mai resolution wish the proposed amendment.

Moran was getting more and more uneasy. Sailor was working his hands and arms as it they were operated by machinery. Moran moved that the whole matter be referred to the Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence. Why, we can't investigate. The matter has not come to our knowledge. We have no knowledge but what we see in the newspapers and the Governor's message. Julian has a bill compolling railroad companies to issue passes to the Legrishture. Let us consider them all together."

The ardor for investigation was cooling wonderfully. Even Speaker Russell, who had suggested in the morning from the chair that the Post-Dispatch be looked into and who had put Spencer in the chair, had come to the conclusion that there are investigations and investigations. He raised the point of order that the resolution was not a the Governor's call and couldn't be considered. Of course Russell wouldn't know a pass or a mileage book if he found one in this inside coat pocket. The point of order was very filmsy, even if the Speaker did make it. Minnis showed clearly that this was a matter affecting the organization and conduct of the House itself and was all ight. Russell withdrew his point of order. Tetum in all seriousness didn't want five nembers to investigate the whole body. He wanted to know who would investigate the live.

THE TWO IMPORTANT BILLS. Election and Fellow-Servant Measures Read a Second Time.

Read a Second Time.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 5,—The Senate convened this morning at 10 o'clock with thirty-one Senators present. The Filley and the Safety Committee election bills were read a second time and referred to committee. The Baskett fellow-servant bill was also read a second time. Senator Gash moved to refer it to the Committee on Rall-roads and Internal Improvements.

Wurdeman wanted to know why the Senator desired to refer the Baskett bill to that committee when the Peers bill had been referred to the Labor Committee. Wurdeman said as a member of the Railroad Committee he preferred not to be compelled to listen to several gentlemen who were hanging about the capitol waiting to be heard. He said that he had heard all of that roit two years ago and did not care to hear anybody boom himself, for Governor any more. Senator Drum replied that he would just as soon hear an argument from the representatives of the railroads. He closed by demanding of Wurdeman that he indicate more definitely who he referred to as having made him so tired two years ago. Wurdeman said the ex-Senator from Buchanan County (Mr. Cockran) was the person he referred to.

Mr. Goodykoontz wanted to know on what side a Senator was expected to vote in order to favor the administration. The bill was finally referred to the Committee on Railroads without a roil-call, so that that committee as well as the labor committee will have an opportunity to pass upon a fellow-servant bill.

On motion of Senator Peers the Senate took a recess until 8 p. m.

The Davidson Resolution Sent to Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence.

Special to The Past Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 25.—After the House mat this morning Mr. Moran of St. Joseph introduced a buncombe resolution, setting forth the letter of Gov. Stone to Senator Ballard. He referred to it as the Governor's second message and called upon the Secretary of State for a copy of it, if it was on file in his office.
Mr. Choate of Bates moved to indefinitely postpone. Mr. Spencer moved to refer it to the Judiciary Committee and it went through.

Then the whole matter of the pass investigation (the Davidson resolution) was sent to the Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence without a roll call, where it will probably stay.

Mr. Hinde introduced a primary election bill similar to the Phipps bill of the last session, which Gov. Stone vetoed.

Remember Senator Downing.

Remember Senator Downing.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 25.—The railroad lobby was augmented last night by the addition of Sam Byrnes. Byrnes is not a cow coroner. He holds an influential and profitable position with the Missouri Pacific attorneys who are here, will probably announce that he has important legal business in the Supreme Court and that he has the utmost contempt for Bill Phelps and Flanagan and "cappers" who depend upon lobbying for the railroads, with incidental "rake-offs" for a living. That is what they all say, but that does not prevent them from visiting their rooms at unusual hours.

The lobby is working the same game that it did in the famous railroad session of 1887. They are promising everything. Almost any Senator or member who has a certificate to practice law can get a guarantee of employment hereafter at fancy prices.

But if they will look back at the record of 1887, and remember the fate of Senator Downing and others they will hesitate. Not a man in that session who was identified with the lobby ever got any political or business prestige thereafter. They were, to lapse into the vernacular, "a busted community" after the special session adjourned. Some bright political prospects were blighted, and history is said to repeat itself.

A noticeable feature of the professed indignation at the Post-Dispatch yesterday was the fact that the howl did not come from men whose records are such that they can stand upon them. The indignating came largely from the men who had something to explain. There isn't a man in House or Senate who has stood by his constituents and who intends to stand by them that is making any complaints.

Pass Forgers Identified.

J. W. Robbins, Thomas Ryan, John McDermott and Ed Wheeler, the four alleged forgers of conductors' passes, were taken into Chief of Detectives Wm. Desmond's office Thursday morning for examination.
There they were confronted by Attorney Thomas B. Estep and three members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who identified two of them as crooks who worked that organisation for passes. Mr. Estep is the local attorney for the order and is interested in pushing the cases. Additional warrants will be sworn out.

A Personal Letter Used as a Campaign Document.

REFERRED TO IN THE HOUSE.

Written to Show Why an Extra Bession of the Legislature Should Be Held.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 25.—A personal letter written by Gov. Stone to Senator Ballard of Henry County on the advisability of calling an extra session of the Legislature was published by the Senator in his home paper, the Montrose Democrat, several days ago. The Evening Courier of this city, which was started about the time the Filley Legislature organised, republished the letter 'posterday afternoon as a campaign document and the Filley cuckoos seem to think they have made a find. The letter was a personal one, not written for publication, but Senator Ballard explained that there were quite a number of his personal and party. Itlends who thought the Governor had made a mistake in calling an extraordinary session of the Legislature, and in order to satisfy them that the Governor had made a mistake he had published the letter.

Gov. Stone said that the sublication of the letter was a matter of indifference to him, inasmuch as there was nothing in it that he would have hesitated to give to the press at any time. The letter is as follows:

JEFFERSON CITY, Mg., April 43, 1895.—Dear Senator—I want to write you frankly as a Democratic Senator. Oncerning the extra session. I mean this as a friendly talk of one Democrat to another.

I want to say in the first place, that I called the Legislature because it seemed to me to be a duty both to the State and to the party. I have taken the whole responsibility of this myself, and do not wish to evade it or to ask anyone to share it. As to the personal aspects of the situation, I am wholly indifferent. As to the public and party aspects of M. I feel a profound interest.

1. As to the election law, I assume that no honest man wants a law on the watute books which offers both a temptation and an opportunity for the committing of fraud. I assume that every honest man wants an honest expression of the will of the voters at the polis. I am opposed to any such law under which crimes can be committed as have been committed under the law now in force. There is a wide-felt belief, that they accomplish the ends. I like the politicians and the workers, but I can not yield my sense of right or my judgment on public duty or party policy to them. Follow them and 80 per cent of them will lead you into any extreme. The party can not afford to do that kind of thing. As an organisation, the party must stand forth for that which is right.

2. I will now discuss the merits of the fellow-servant's law. This much I will say: There is no principle involved in fellow-servant legislation. One man might properly oppose such a law, another favor it, and different men divide as to the scope and terms of a measure. There is no great vital principle involved. It is not difficult to state a case where a right of action ought in all good conscience to be maintained by an employe against his corporate employer. Cases might also be stated where the right to maintain an action ought not to exict. in all good consolence to be maintained by an employe against his corporate employer. Cases might also be stated where the right to maintain an action ought not to exict.

These things, however, concern only the details of legislation. The fact that it is easy to state cases where the moral sense of fairness and the conscience of right-thinking men will at once say that damages ought to be paid proves that leg slation of this character, within proper limits and restrictions, should be enacted. Why should it not be? Why is it not done? Do you believe for a moment that if Phelps, Carroll, Flanagan, etc., did not oppose the measure; if the tremendous influence of railroad corporations did not obstruct—do you believe for a moment that this long continued demand of twenty-odd thousand voters in Missouri, supported by several times that number of sympathizers, would not have long since been exacted into law? If during the session just adjourned, the representatives of the railroads had announced to the Senators and Representatives here that they had no objection to the passage of such a law, do you doubt that such a law would have passed? You know. Senator, as well as I know the tremendous influence exercised by the lobby here. Are you willing to have this condition continued indefinitely in Missouri? I cannot believe you are willing to have the Missouri is adoubtful State. Look at this situation. The managing head of every prominent railroad in Missouri's Republican—Brown of the Burlington, Nettleton, Warner, Hays, Morril, etc. They have some men under them who are Democrats, but these Democrats are drawing large sateries and hold their positions as the subordinates of the managing heads. It is a fact, well known already, that these railroads are far more liberal contributors to Republican than to Democratic campaign funds. Next year we will find these leading men throwing the power of their influence to help the Republican party. Shall we also permit them by adroit manipulation to put us and leave us in an attitude of hostility to their workingmen and be thus enabled to swing their army of workingmen into I'ne with them in opposition to the Democratic party? We are at a disadvantage. We can put the Democratic party on top, Why should any Democratic Senator or Representative stand on the other side? Is it for some great vital principle? No thoughtul man would say that. Of course the railroads and the railroad lobby will fight for that side. Why? Because they think it may save the railroad companies a few dollars. That is the whole of it. The Democrats of the lobby will serve the railroads without regard to its effect on the party. If the issue is between the Democratic party and the railroads, which side will Phelps and Carroll and the others take? Very truly yours.

The young men of the Holy Rosary Parish have lately developed a habit of marrying on the quiet, and thus depriving their triends of the usual nupital "blow out." Monday morning Fr. ## BELL MAKES Invites Carleton to Show Cause for Retaining His License.

SLOW, BUT SURE, HE SAYS. Dive Keepers Turn Very Meek and Say They Will Recognize the Directions of the Police.

Excise Commissioner Bell took a small start Wednesday afternoon, toward revok-ing the licenses of the "free and easies."

ing the licenses of the "free and easies." It was a sort of accidental stroke, but he did it, anyway.

He received the communication from the Police Department early in the afternoon, and, fortunately for the orusade of the police. Bob Carleton, proprietor of the Winter Garden, came in a few moments later to see Mr. Bell. His call was unsolicited, but the Commissioner took the opportunity of informing him that he would be compelled, within a specified time, to show cause why his license should not be revoked.

Carleton left the place declaring that he could and would do so immediately.

Mr. Bell was asked if he would pursue the same course with reference to the other dive-keepers.

He said that in all probability he would. "I am going to go slow in this matter," he went on to say. "I am going to see that he law is enforced, but I am not going up in a balloon and have it burst. I'll do the very best I can, and I'don't care a rap what anybody's opinion of me is."

Mr. Bell is now in Jefferson City. The dive-keepers appreciate the fact that breakers are ahead for them and they are displaying an extremely conciliatory spirit. There is none of the old cantankerous fighting spirit in them that used to characterise the Beckmans when they ran the Winter Garden and threatened to arrest all the hotel-keepers in town because they had women employed in the same building where liquid was sold. At that time the Beckmans were being prosecuted under this charge, but they managed to come out victorious.

bad features of the others, only in a milder form. This is because Summerville comes nearer to being a gentleman than any of the others. The London was not raided Saturday night. The police almed at it, but through some jugglery they missed it. Summerville does not hesitate to say that he is ready to quit the moment the police give him the word.

"I have been waiting for it two days," he said. "Il close up shop right off as soon as I get it. I don't want to be in any business where I am liable to be annoyed with arrest. I have conducted this house as well as one of this kind could be. I would not bring my mother or sister here, but no woman is ever insuited. The girls I have sell drinks on a saiary. They are all performers and behave themselves.

"I am opposed to free shows, any how. I fought them until I lost $10,000, and then I had to start one myself in self-defense. They can stop me whenever they see fit. There's no money in the business anyhow. Let them take license and all."

DOWN AT THE COMIQUE.

"Old man Thompson," as he is called around Sixth and Elm streets, is proprietor of the Comique. He is the ploneer in the free show business. Frankness is one of his characterictics.

"I kinder got wind of what was liable boxes and kick their heels on the stage, and defied the authorities to shut the place up.

"They can take away our license," he exclaimed, "but they can't keep us from running a pay show, and that's what we'll do, and make money, too. See?"

The proprietors of the other resorts all say about the same thing; claim they are abused, and that the character of their poor, hard-working girls is being traduced. Perhaps it is, but any one had knocked around any of the places long wouldn't feel inclined to play any of the charmers a very strong favorite in a purity show.

ATTORNEY MULVIHILL'S VIEW.
This is the opinion of Prosecuting Attorney Mulvihill of the Court of Crimnal Correction, on the recent raids and the result:

"The raids, in my opinion, showed their worst phases of bad management after the actual raiding was finished. In other words, the preferring of the wrong charge against these women was an inexcusable piece of business. There are city ordinances under which these people could have been held had the proper charge been placed against them.

"The whole trouble is that too much de-loses it he thinks he can make enough money to keep going by his charges of a dime at the door.

Mr. Dick Summerville is the proprietor of the London, on Fourth street. Of all the free shows, so termed, this one comes the nearest to being legitimate. It has all the bad features of the others, only in a milder form. This is because Summerville comes in these cases, as well as in many others where justice is defeated through ignorance of the law or carelessness on the says: The feeling in the iron trade is undoubtedly better, but the newly-acquired strength is not yet heroulean. To some extent the actual advance in prices is asked because the start has been made from a lower level that sellers have been willing to acknowledge.

Advices from Pittsburg and the valleys indicate a weakening in Bessemer pig to a shade under $10$ in the valleys. But it is pointed out that the quantities offered are not large. Possibly this reaction may stop should any serious labor trouble arise over the wages of the blast furnacemen in the valleys. There has been very little doing in the soft steel market, but inquiries are coming in now for the third quarter and for the second half of the year. Chicago reports that orders for 30,000 tons of biflets are in sight. Very little business of magnitude has been done in any department of the finished from and steel trade in any part of the country. Bars and sheets are held at higher figures by agreement.

Quite a lively business has been done in Southern pig iron, our Cincinnati correspondent noting sales of about 50,000 tons, of which 30,000 tons was done by one house. Chicago, too, reports a heavy business, both in local and Southern furnace companies, according to our Birmingham correspondent, have actually made sales at an advance. In other markets the matter has not apparently progressed quite so far.

LIGHT ON CLEVELAND'S VIEWS.

Light is thrown on President Cleve land's money views by the apparently au thoritative report that he will not accept an invitation for the United States to paricipate in an international monetary conference because of the wording of the Congressional enactment empowering him to do so and to appoint three dele

The President's objection to the enact ment is said to be that it would commi the United States in any such conference to the support of free silver coinage. But it commits the United States to free coinage only under an international agreement providing for the "fixity of the relative value between gold and silver, as money, by means of a common ratio between those metals.'

This is international bimetallism which the United States have been striving for and which was supposed to be the ultimate object of the Cleveland Administration and of all the so-called "sound ney" men. No Democrat was suspected of opposing international bimetallism and favoring unconditional gold mono metallism until Secretary Morton put forth the remarkable utterance which the President repudiated. No other object except the establishment of free coinage of silver by international agreement ha heretofore been dreamed of in connection with a monetary conference. But, if this report be true, if the Presideclines to commit the United States to free coinage under internationa agreement, or to permit them to participate in a conference called for this object but insists that in any conference the United States delegates may be free to vote for any policy, even the indorse ment of the gold conspiracy by international approval, he is not an interns tional or any other sort of bimetallist but a gold monometallist, and Secretar Morton has correctly represented him.

"CATTLE." Nothing in the proceedings of the State Legislature so far has surprised the Post Dispatch more than the objection of Representative Moran and his colleagues to the picture in Tuesday's issue showing Col. Phelps in the act of rounding up the lobby's fellow servants. The idea of the picture was borrowe from the lobbyists themselves. We are informed on good authority that the favorite descriptive term used by the lob byists in speaking to each other and to outsiders of their legislative henchme is "cattle." They speak contemptuously of "buying cattle." They joke about th cost "per head." They inform themselves about "fluctuations in the market." The instruction usually given to an assistant is to "look after his herd." Possibly the Post-Dispatch's informa tion on this point is mistaken, but at any rate it is proper to explain that the picture was not invented, but borrowed

THE BANK CHECK ABBITRARY.

If all the bank officials and busines men who oppose the bank check arbi trary were as vigorous in support of their opinions as President Louis C. Nelson o the St. Louis National, the trade of St. Louis would not long be vexed and hampered by this oppressive clearing-hous

Mr. Nelson, who has just returned from an Eastern trip, not only indorses the withdrawal of his bank from the support of the rule, but affirms his deter-mination to do all in his power to have it rescinded. He will have a meeting of the Clearing House called as soon as possible to take action on the demand for the abrogation of the rule. Mr. Nelson says he believes that as Presiden he could have separathing to say as to 100 Mr. ave something to say as to to his bank shall treat its customers and his bank shall treat its customers and is opposed to an arbitrary.

This is solid ground for the protesting banks, and their opposition to the rule is strengthened by that of the merchants and by the fact that it is damaging St. Louis' trade. If the men who have the best interests of St. Louis at heart will act in concert the rule will go in short

SOPTLY, GESTLEMEN.

The Missouri House of Representatives adopted yesterday a resolution regarding the Post-Dispatch. The request con-tained therein will be answered in due course. If that body is in condition to-day for sober second thought it must be aware that its action was premature and aware that its action was premature and ill considered, not to say hysterical.

The Jefferson City dispatch complained of made no charges. It simply invited the people of Missouri to watch the votes and the "not voting" or "absent" records of certain members of the House and Senate. If these members intend to vote right and are not ashamed of the record they will make they should thank the Post-Dispatch for asking attention to the matter. The Post-Dispatch is resined as matter. The Post-Dispatch is pained as well as surprised to find that the House is unanimously of the opinion that the votes of the members named will not bear watching. This is a far worse impute tion upon them than any suggested by the article in the Post-Dispatch.

There is no occasion as yet for oratory or hysterics. The session is only just begun, and so is the Post-Dispatch's work The Post-Dispatch is not interested in these verbal pyrotechnics. It is interested in votes. It will honestly, impartially and accurately publish the vote (or dodging) of each and every member of the House and Senate. At the end of the session it will publish a complete alphabetical list of the members of both houses, with a complete and accurate statement of how each and every member voted (or dodged) on every roll-call. It will republish this list from time to time, without charge, and especially next year, about the time the nominating conventions are held.

It strikes us that nothing could be fairer than this. If it does not secure for the Post-Dispatch a unanimous vote of thanks from both House and Senate are unacquainted with the impulses that move the self-conscious innocence o patriots.

NOW INVESTIGATE!

The resolution introduced in the House by Representative Davidson providing for the investigation of the railroad pass abuse is a step in the right direction It should be promptly adopted and the investigation should be conducted with

But the House should guard against the possible effect of the rider of Representative Minnis, including State officers in the investigation. It is possible that State officers may have passes and it is a matter of no concern to the Post-Dis-patch whether they are found to have passes or not. It is a proper subject of investigation. But there is reason to fear that the amendment embodies a sly attention from the main point and to lefeat the real object of the investigation.

Phelps and Flanagan must not be per mitted to tell only what they please to tell and to so direct the investigation that its sole result will be to attack and annoy some of the executive officers of the State while the lobby's henchmer in the Legislature are shielded from ex-posure. There is no doubt that this is the pur pose of the lobby and that the attempt will be made to use the opportunity afforded by the amendment to work re venges and divert public attention from the legislative offenders. If the attempt is permitted to succeeed the investigation will earn for the House the scorn and reprobation of honest men.' And the people will not be deceived.

SPEAR OUT, MR. BELL.

Assistant Chief Reedy has made a full report on the "free and easies" in which he states that disgusting immoralitie are practiced in them, that vice is openly flaunted and that not only is their influence pernicious, but they are actually places of prostitution and are partly supported by the earnings of dissolute women, all of which is clearly in violation of law. The facts have been certified to Excise Commissioner Bell by the Board of Police Commissioners with a request that the licenses of these dives be revoked. And the newspapers have furnished full information of the vicious and law-breaking character of the dens. But Excise Commissioner Bell declines o revoke the dive licenses. He declares that he has not received proper eviden of the disreputable character of the dives and of the fact that they are violating the law. He declines to investigate the dives himself because, he tells a reporter, he is not paid to do detective work. To another reporter he says that he will not act on the evidence of the police and the newspaper reporters because their evidence is ex parte.

Having thus publicly defined his position as an official who refuses to inquire for himself or to accept the evidence of the police or the newspapers, it is incumbent upon Mr. Bell to state what kind of evidence will satisfy him and how it shall be laid before him. If he will tell the exact nature and amount of evidence and the kind of witnesses required to induce him to do his duty the Post-Dis patch will make an effort to see that his requirements are complied with.

It is within the power of the Excise Commissioner to rid St. Louis of viciou theater dives by the stroke of his pen. This beneficent public service will be secured if there is any possibility of getting around or under the apparently insurmountable bulwarks of excuses which performed by Gov. Stone than by Senter Arthur S. Lyman of Kanaas City.

The Governor has manifested interest in popular demands; what has the latter ne or said that has not been in direct sition to the will of the taxpayers

When Speaker Russell made the point of order that the Missouri House could not investigate the reception of railroad passes by its members because the subject was not mentioned in the Governor's message, he temporarily forgot that the Governor did the best he could towards enabling the House to contemplate its own inward consciousness, and that no man was angrier over it than this same Speaker Russell.

Matters that concern the public, whether in city or State, should be given a full and fair showing in the press, and should not be omitted or glossed over in anybody's interest. It is the policy of the Post-Dispatch to serve the people as well as to entertain them, and this fact has been fully recognised in the steady increase in the great army of its patrons.

Of the thirty-six Representatives who voted to table Representative Davidson's resolution of inquiry into the reception of railroad passes by members of the Mis-souri Legislature, three are accredited Democrats and thirty-three Republicans. The three alleged Democrats are W. W. Kline of Barton, Edwin T. Lane of Cast and James P. Lynch of St. Louis City.

Pitiless fate closes around the unfortunate-children of Wotan, Siegmund and Sieglinde; and the movement of the drama is fierce and somber, only relieved by the swelling springtide of irresistable law in the first act, and the glorious prophecy of the coming hero Siegfried in the third. She has certainly a great future before her.

Alvary was as beautiful and graceful as ever, and as usual at his best in the heroic passages. His "Nothung! nothung! neldliches stahl," when he draws the sword from the tree, was magnificent. ## "THE CRIMINAL LAWYER."

Gov. Johnson Speaks Ably in Defense of His Profession.

Memorial Hall, Gov. Charles P. Johnson presented an elaborate and scholarly adpresented an elaborate and scholarly address on a subject selected by Prof. W. A. Sheldon, "A Defense of the Criminal Lawyer." By way of preface Gov. Johnson said that he would have preferred to speak to the subject "a defense of some of the methods used in criminal practice." He characterized the criminal lawyer as the characterized the criminal lawyer as the characterized the criminal lawyer as the characterized methods of individual rights of man in its broadest and best sense. The popular prejudice against criminal lawyers arose from the character and methods of individual practitioners. But he conceived that there was more reason for prejudice against the civil than against the criminal lawyer. The civil lawyer fights for dollars and cents alone; the criminal lawyer defends the rights of individual liberty, and on the result of his exertions may depend the happiness and welfare not only of the accused but of whole families for future generations. The "criminal classes" to the average mind includes all who are charged with crime, including all the various grades, are legally guilty. As to professional criminals, most of them were marked very much as idiots and insane people, and are very rarely subjects of defense by the criminal lawyer. Gov. Johnson quoted from distinguished authorities on mental disease to show the origin of the criminal mind, and to prove that where this form of neurosis exists it is insardicable. In considering the work of the criminal lawyer these. "children of darkness," as he expressed it, should not be included. ess on a subject selected by Prof. W. A. the criminal lawyer these "children of darkness," as he expressed it, should not be insluded. The mass of criminals belong to a lifterent class of men—coming within the rule of yielding to an evil passion or a rictous impulse that might be overcome, and what man of rull life and passion had not yielded to an evil impulse? The apostles

the votaries of science, the combatants against bigotry and intolerance, had been with that of the greatest character of history.

Answering the question, "How can a lawyer justify himself in defending a criminal whom he knows to be guilty?" the speaker asked another: "How can a physician justify himself in saving the life of a patient afflicted with a deadly disease, when he knows that the man is a dangerous character, and may do harm if he lives?" He cannot discriminate; and the lawyer labors to save the person charged with crime because, though he may be guilty, there is a strong counterbalancing reason why he should not be ruined.

In discussing the off-repeated charge that the rich criminal often escapes punishment where the poor man is punished, and applying his deductions to the Duestrow case, Gov. Johnson said: "His money may be said to help in one way, but hurts in another. His wealth, position, previous surroundings and advantages, together with his habits and the character of his crime, have been followed by a prejudice which almost precludes a fair investigation into his mental condition."

that time the Highbinders, said to have been organized here by Jung Jong, were plotting to get even. They wrote to Jong, ha/ing a "Melican" man write the address, and told him that he had been ousted from the firm. A few days ago a letter was received from him, dated Bluefields, Nicaraigua, saying that he would return and get even with Jeu Mun, and Jeu says that Jung controls the Highbinders here, and he is afraid they might kill him.

He asked Commissioner Gray to prevent him from returning to the United States, or have him arrested on his return.

Upon referring to his files Mr. Gray discovered that papers had been issued to Jong to leave the country March 7. They were signed by Henry Junker and August Bargoding, and were to the effect that Jong had interests in the firm of Quong, Hong. Chong to the extens of $1.500. He was anxious that the public take a hand, but was guarded about his statements regarding the Highbinders society. He repeated the statement that a friend of his told him all about the Highbinders Jong, he said, was also connected with the San Francisco Highbinders. The reporter accompanied him to his place of business, No. 722 Market street. Here the members of the firm were busy chatting about Jong, but no additional information regarding the Highbinders could be obtained.

EVEN IN THE ALMS-HOUSE.

A "Trilby" Epidemic Among Indigent Old Women.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The question

NEW YORK, April 25.—The question, "When does a woman cease to feel the emotion called love?" has been answered in the King's County Alms-house. The answer is, "Not until she dies or until she lives to be more than 100 years old."

The oldest woman in the alms-house, Mary Ushers, claims to be a hundred. Seven hundred friendless old women are supported in the alms-house. Mrs. Quay, the matron, read "Trilby." She gave the book to her favorite old woman. She read it and passed it to her dearest friend. Now a "Trilby" epidemic is raging in the alms-house. This has attracted attention, and investigation shows that every one of the old women is yet susceptible.

"All of them are very fond of love stories," says Mrs. Quay. So there is one fiame that never burns out.

Narrowly Escaped Suspension.

Narrowly Escaped Suspension.

The summoning by the School Board Teachers Committee of twenty-five teachers to explain their frequent tardiness has spread a spirit of uneasiness among the ladies. One of the number summoned narrowly escaped suspension. Miss Sophie Barron, of the Garfield school. She did not attend the committee, a letter containing her excuses. In it she said: Board member had said it was not necessary for her to attend the meeting. She had been to see President Brockman, and he disclaimed to the committee that he had told her she need not appear. A motion was made and seconded to suspend her, but the motion was withdrawn. She was notified to appear next Monday, under extreme penalty.

DAYS OF OLD ROUGHT BACK BY THE ONLY MCNICHOL

Across the freely running brook, With shallow shifts of foam, I see the mossy gables of My childhood's happy heme. I close my eyes at twilight now, And see the homely hearth—I dream of mother's voice, and see The deapest spot on earth! Yes, 'tis a dream—the vision To soothe an aching heart; I'm lonely in this busy crowd, From all I stand apart!
I long for what I used to know

Some kindly neighbor told me how McNichol helps the man Who seeks to help himself at last With this installment plan. My children growing up shall say, They were not raised to roam; But lived to love a sacred spot, Their childhood's happy home.

Don't think it takes a fortune, frie To compass this about. It comes so easy that you'll say: "How can folks do without?" To board, lodge, is not to live; Things better you should seek. McNichol sells you all you need For payments by the week!

And such beautiful things! So cheap! You have only to go and lay the case before him. He will help you at once. (Trade Mark) THE ONLY MCNICHOL.

ENGLAND'S CRIME OF OPPRESSION.

Attorney Coudert on the Nicaraguan Situation.

JOHN BULL AS A BULLY

The English Admiral Serves Notice That His Forces Will Occupy Corinto.

NEW YORK, April 25 .- Frederic R. Coudert, who is recognized as leading in the practice of international law in this coun-try, and whose services as counsel to the Behring Sea arbitration commission brought him prominently before two continents, was ed to-day for his views of the report asked to-day for his views of the report that force would be used to compel Nicar-agua to accede to Great Britain's demand,

Mr. Coudert said:
"If I were an enemy of Great Britain, I

Mr. Coudert said:

"If I were an enemy of Great Britain, I would be glad if she did. Our people don't want bombardments by foreigners on this continent. Whether it is against the Monroe doctrine or not the American people have a strong feeling on that subject.

"They don't like to see a big nation bultying a little one, even if the big nation is the United States and the little one Chili.

"In the next place, these small republics on this continent belong to one family, if not by blood, at least by proximity, by contact and by sympathy with the example of free government which we have set. It would seem to be a wiser policy for Great Britain to get through with Egypt before starting with Nicaragua. She is arousing the resentment of one great nation in Europe, and it may not be prudent for her to inflame the prejudices, if you choose to call them so, of the great nation of the Western hemisphere.

"Bombarding helpless towns is, at best, brutal and expensive. It may turn out that the expense may be greater to Great Britain than to Nicaragua. The most painful part of it is that so great a government should deliberately take a step backward. The whole sentiment of the world is against a settlement of disputes by the old-fashioned way of war, and arbitration is growing to be the hope of civilization.

"As the century closes, I cannot help thinking that this coercion on the part of a powerful nation against a weak one, which might result in war, is worse than a blunder—it is a crime."

UNITED STATES AGREES. This Country Has No Objection to

Great Britain's Course. LONDON, April 25.—Inquiries made to-day at the United States Embassy here, confirms the statement made that Great Britain and the United States are fully agreed as to the former's course of action in enforcing her demands upon Nicaragua.

ON THE PREACHER.

Aim of Durant's Attorneys in the Church Murders.

BAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 25 .- About the only tangible evidence against W. H. T. Durant, the medical student, accused of having killed Marian Williams in Emanuel Baptist Church, that has been adduced in the preliminary examination so far is that the prisoner was better acquainted with dead girl than he at first would acknowledge. It has been shown that he lied regard to that particular point. There has been no positive identification of Durant as having been seen about the church rant as having been seen about the church where the murders occurred during the evening when the deed was committed. Many witnesses are yet to come, however. Rev. J. George Gibson, the preacher of the church, had a long siege in the witness box yesterday, and he was returned to the rack again this morning. The District Attorney's questions to the minister did not detain him long, but the cross-examination seemed interminable. Dr. Gibson did not enjoy himself. The lawyers were austere with him and the Judge was sarcastic. Gen. Dickinson, attorney for the defense

Gen. Dickinson, attorney for the defense, took the preacher over the whole course of his life, from his birth in Edinburgh to the day of the discovery of Minnie Williams' bloody body in his church, and every question seemed to veil an insinuation.

The minister answered promptly, but was disposed to be exceedingly exact in his answers. He fidgeted a good deal.

Everybody enjoyed the parson's discomfiture. The District Attorney, to be sure, did put in one objection to save him from amoyance, but Judge Conlan swept it aside and did some prodding of the pastor himself.

and did some prodding of the pastor himself.

The length of the cross-examination and the manner of it indicate that Durant's lawyers propose to throw the preacher forward as the center of their theory of the murderers—for, of course, when they contend that Durant did not commit the crimes they must supply a possible substitute, and Rev. John George Gibson understands just what they are about.

It is hard to perceive just how the defense will connect the preacher with this murder, for he was at the party of Emanuel Church young people at Dr. Vogel's house that night from 7:30 until about 11 o'clock, while Durant, who should have been there to act as secretary, did not appear until after 9:30.

Will Consider Negotiations With the Associated Cycling Club To-Night. The Board of Officers of the Pastime Athletic Club will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening at the club-house, and one of the important matters to be brought before it will be a report of the conference before it will be a report of the conference of Willie Brown. President of the Blcycle Division, with the Associated Cycling Clubs. Mr. Yrown will state the basis of the peace negotations proposed and will recommend that they be adopted. The plan, "as set forth, is for the Pastimes to join the association, and, to show a friendly spirit, the A. C. C. will assign the circuit date to the P. A. C. President Julian Laughlin of the Pastimes has expressed himself in favor of the plan.

Should the recommendations of Mr. Brown be adopted and the P. A. C. become a member of the A. C. C., with the Century Road Club, which will shortly join, the Associated Cycling Clubs will be able to accomplish a great deal for the sport in St. Louis.

FERGUSON FIRE SWEPT.

an Early Morning Blaze.

The little suburban town of fifteen miles north of this city, had a sured.

fire early Thursday morning. The loss will aggregate $30,000, and is only partially insured.

Flames were discovered issuing from the Niebling Building at 1:30 a. m. by Alderman John Vogt, who was returning from a wedding. He had to break down the doors in order to rescue Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tottenhauser, who were asleep in one of the rear rooms. They narrowly escaped with their lives. Tottenhauser is a tailor, with a shop in the building.

From there the fire spread in all directions. The lumber yard owned by Krenning & Sons Grocer Co. of this city was reduced to ashes, as were the ice house and the feed and coal yard of Calvin M. Case. The residence and new grocery of W. H. Tiffin & Bro. and the meat market and residence of Gabriel Tiffin, adjoining, were totally destroyed. All of the burned buildings were two-story frame structures.

The Niebling Building contained the grocery store of Chas. A. Tush, the barber shop of Will Argent, meat market of Fred Binbeutel, the Masonic Hall, in which the Royal Arcanum and the Legion of Honor met, the City Hall, Mayor's office and United States Post-office. Some mall matter in the latter was destroyed, but the money and stamps were locked up in the safe of the St. Louis County Loan and Building Association and are believed to have escaped damage.

The losses are only partially covered by insurance. The losses are as follows: Niebling Building, $7,000; Chas. A. Tush, $5,00 on stock; Fred Binbeutel, $1,000 on stock, insured, $750; C. M. Case, $1,000, insured, $300; W. H. Tiffin, $2,500 on building and $2,500 on stock; Rrenning & Sons, $2,000, partially insured; Harrison Tiffin, whose residence was occupied by his son, $1,500, with probably no insurance. Other losses ranging from a few dollars up to over $100 will swell the total to the figures given, Gabriel: Tiffit saved the contents of his home and the switch board of the local telephone company was taken out before the building burned. An office is being opened in another building.

The fire originated from a defective flu

THEIR RECORDS TO DATE.

Youngsters Nearly All Started Out Well and Did Creditable Work, But Some Are Counterfeits

The youngsters who made their initial bows in the National League this year are doing fairly well, judging from the few games that have thus far been played.

bows in the National League this year are doing fairly well, judging from the few games that have thus far been played. Musy of them have not been given a chance to show themselves in championship games, but have proved in the preliminaries that they are all right.

The Browns have three new players, only one of which has turned out, so far, to be of much account and that one is Hogan. McDougal and Cooley are not up to the mark and the new pitcher's first effort against the Clevelands Wednesday would stamp him as worthless, while Cooley's work at short during Ely's brief illness was exceedingly coarse. Hogan, however, is covering center in samirable style and could he improve a little with the stick, Chris would never dream of Brown again.

Wallace of the Clevelands is made of the right stuff. While his work aginst Cincinnati was not very creditable, he showed in the game with the Browns yesterday that he can hold his own. He held the Browns down nicely and the latter could make no rune until the sixth inning. Greminger's playing on third was rank.

Boston has probably done better with new players than any other club. Wilson and Warner, the young battery, did excellent work in the game with Washington Tuesday, and although their team was defeated they held the Senators down to four hits, one of them a home run by Hassamser, the St. Louis boy. Collins, who succeeded Jimmy Bannon at right, is a shining light, and shares with Miller of Cincinnatis the distinction of being one of the best new outfielders of the season.

In Hogriever the Cincinnatis have a fast man, and if he keeps up his present pace may succeed. How in the outfield, unless the "dummy" braces up. Catcher Sples is keeping up the reputation he made in the Western League, but Gray, the young infielder, who plays second in the absence of McPhee, has proven a disappointment. He bats well, but fields indifferently.

Louisville has several promising players who make their first appearance this season. Tub Welch, the St. Louisan, is catching well and doing Another, St. Louisan is helping Pittsburg in the fight for the pennant. Frank Genins, who succeeded Captain Donovan in right, is up to the standard and doing well. Pitcher Hart and third-baseman Clingman are doing creditably, but Niles is not a success and may be released. Catchers Donaine and Moran and second-baseman Stewart of the Chicagos have fulfilled the expectations. Everett is rather weak on third and may shortly drift into a minor league, nto a minor league, Brooklyn has not yet given its colts a hance to show their metal, but Burrell s regarded as a jewel. Stafford of the New Yorks, while not a youngster, is a new man in the infield. He has been playing inferior ball and Ward may be recalled to replace him. Pitchers Knauss and Boswell have not yet had a trial trial.

Baltimore has not seen fit to exhibit her brood of chicks yet, but Pitcher Kissenger and first-baseman Cary are highly spoken of and are thought to be good ones.

Jack Crooks and Nicholson have been processionals for years, but are new blood to the Senators. They are doing well, especially Crooks, whose fielding has caught the cranks. Catcher Coogan has not played yet, but is a good man.

BALL GAME TIME CHANGED.

Beginning With Pittsburg Play Will Be Called at 3:30 O'Clock.

One great mistake made by the management of the Browns this season was in calling play at 4 o'clock. Every game calling play at 4 o'clock. Every game played so far has lasted over two hours and fifteen minutes, and with the large crowds to handle by the street cars, it was after 7 o'clock before the patrons of the sport could get to their supper, and this late hour would result in spoling any evening entertainment that might have been planned. At this early season, too, by the time the seventh inning had arrived it was too dark to see the ball, and good plays were often spolled.

Manager Buckenberger and President Von der Ahe have expressed a desire to accommodate the public in every way possible, and as soon as the request was made for an earlier hour the change was at once anapunced.

Beginning with the Pittsburg series Fri-day play will be called at 3:39 o'clock promptly, and the game will be ended be-fore 6 o'clock.

M'DOUGAL A FAILURE. Clevelands Batted the Young Pitcher All Over the Field.

acDougal, the Browns' young pitcher, tayed to twirl the sphere in the game with seaved to twirt the sphere in the game with the Clevelands yesterday and made a miserble failure. The Spiders batted him so reely that he did not last two innings, and taley was put in his place. How They Stand.

To-Morrow's Game. The Pittsburg team, including Pink Haw-ley, will arrive in St. Louis Friday morning and open a series of three games with the Browns that afternoon. These games should be of unusual interest, owing to the great rivalry between the teams. Colcolough and Bugden will probably be the battery for Pittsburg and Breitenstein and Peliz for the Browns. Play will be called at 3:30 p. m.

A TRAGEDY OF THE BALL FIELD.

II .-- An Umpire with a Past.

Base Ball Notes. The Bostons' traveling uniform is gray, with blue collars, caps and stockings, Washington put it over Philadelphia again and strange to say, Joyce failed to make a hit.
Dick Buckley is catching great ball for Philadelphia. Von der Ahe made a bad error when he let Dick go.
Jack Stivetts is in great shape this season. He let New York down with only three hits yesterday.
"Parson" Nicholson is playing a good game at short for Washington. The "Parson" used to be with the Browns.
When Harry Staley gets in shape he When Harry Staley gets in shape he should pitch fine ball. It will take the hot weather to drive the rheumatism out of his weather to drive the rheumatism warm.

Pat Tebeau was in the game good and plenty yesterday. He made three runs, two hits, fourteen put-outs and two assists.

Joe Quinn, Roger Connor and George Miller seem to be the most consistent batters on the Browns.

The Clevelands are anxious to make it two out of three, and the Browns will have to hustle to prevent them from doing it.

Connie Mack's Pittsburg Pirates will open here to-morrow and it will be Theodore Breitenstein against Emerson Hawley in the box.

In the box.

Pitcher John Ewing, Buck's dead brother, played his first professional engagement with the St. Louis Browns. From here he drifted to Memphis.

McDermott, the young St. Louis twirler, was in the box for Louisville against Chicago yesterday. He held Anson's aggregation down to seven hits.

"Fatty" Childs signalized his return to the Clevelands. by making four hits and accepting everything that came his way at second base.

If Arthur Clarkson had been signed ear. second base.

If Arthur Clarkson had been signed earlier in the season he would no doubt have been in condition to go in the box now.
Then McDougal could have been saved for an easy game.

WIDOW FAIR

How the Plot Thickens in the Millionaire's Will Case in 'Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 23.-The discovery of second and third wills left by the late Senator Fair, the supposition that there are still others in existence the uncertainty surrounding the legality of the several instruments, the crowd of of the several instruments, the crowd of alleged heirs who are coming forward to claim a share of the dead man's millions, all units to place the affairs of the Fair estate in a hopeless tangle, and the problem that the courts will have now to deal with is a most complicated one.

There are champions for each of the three wills, for the beneficiaries are not treated alike in each. The ex-Senator appears to have had a mania for writing wills in his later days, and diligent inquiry is now being made for others which he might have made. In each case the wills have been found in the hands of women upon whom Fair was wont to smile indulgently. Added to the excitement which these complications have aroused comes a rumor generally credited to the effect that Hob Mitchell, one of the attorneys for the executors, has made a statement in private conversation that in the course of a few days there will appear a woman with positive proof that she was the wife of Fair at the time of his death, and is, therefore, entitled to a large share of his estate. Mitchell is reported to have said that the identity of this woman would shock San Francisco—that she is prominent in social circles of the city and known throughout the country. It is said that attorneys have collected all the evidence necessary to prove her claims, and that when the attempt is made to file either of the wills for probate she will come forward and demand a widows share. Who the woman is no one seems able to make even a guess at, but that the report has foundation in fact and that at the last moment she will appear to assert ow's share. Who the woman is no one seems able to make even a guess at, but that the report has foundation in fact and that at the last moment she will appear to assert a claim is regarded as certain.

Ex-Senator Fair died on Dec. 28 last, and a will, said to be his last, was immediately brought forward. In many respects it was a curious document. Its most important feature was the life-tenure clause relating to Chas. L. Fair. Up to the time this will was made Fair had not become reconciled to the marriage of his son to Maud Nelson, and his displeasure was shown by leaving to Charley only a life interest in one-third of the estate, which was at the son's death to revert to Charley's sisters, Virginia Fair and Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, cutting off the brother's children without a penny.

A move to contest the will was immediately made by young Fair's attorneys. The contest papers, alleging that the deceased was of unsound mind and that he was unduly influenced by his cierks and executors, were to have been flied Monday morning of last week, but on the day when the case was to have been brought to issue Mrs. Nettle R. Craven, principal of the Mission Grammar School of this city, brought forward a will made last September, which, it was claimed, Fair had executed in her presence and left in her keeping. It was a holographic document. written with a lead pencil. Its production entirely changed the aspect of the great legal fight. By its provisions Charles Fair was to receive the llon's share of the estate. Half a million in cash was to be paid to him before division of the property was made; and the life-tenure clause was omitted, thus allowing the property to descend to his children at his death.

THE WRONG MEDICINE.

Thousands of people yearly treat their alls with the wrong medicine. They are in the habit of jumping at the first "cure all" they see advertised and fancy they are going to be benefited. People should use more caution in selecting their medicines. These are times when the country is flooded with the printed boasts of experimenters. Those who have piles in any form cannot be too careful in its treatment. The delicate membranes may receive injuries from humbug remedies that will lead to the most complicated eruptions. Pyramid Pile Cure is the safest remedy known to medical science. It purifies that will lead to the most complicated eruptions. Pyramid Pile Cure is the safest remedy known to medical science. It purifies the affected parts, reduces the tumors and akes away the inflammation. If you are roubled try it. It is prepared by the most killed specialists, who have made the curng of piles and kindred troubles a life study. It is now the best known pile remedy before he public. Thousands have been cured the had experimented for years with every ther known remedy. Hundreds who have een completely cured by Pyramid Pile cure. Don't experiment with dangeroes rugs nor run the risk of a painful surgical peration. This remedy is a prompt, peret and permanent cure for the most perstent case of piles. It is manufactured by ne Pyramid Drug Co. at Albion, Mich., and has found its way into nearly every ide-awake drug store on this continent, our druggist no doubt has it. Ask for it and be cured of a disease which may lead if atal complications.

A liberal bequest to Mrs. Craven was included. The legitimate children of the exsenator united in presenting this as their father's last will and instead of contest proceedings being brought, the Court was asked to admit the instrument to probate.

Excitement over the production of this document was still at its height when, the next day, it was announced that a third will was in existence, being in possession of a Mrs. Blitz Paxton. This document has not been presented in court, but it is claimed that it will take precedence over the other two, it being dated only ten days prior to Fair's death. By its provisions, it is said, Fair's children are provided for in the same manner as in the second will, the only material change being that Mrs. Paxton is left a heavy bequest, and there is some alteration in the amounts left to other relatives and to charity.

In the first will made by Fair, any atterial change being that Mrs. Paxton is left a heavy bequest, and there is some alteration in the amounts left to other relatives and to charity.

In the first will made by Fair, any attempt of any one to prove himself a child of the deceased and thus secure a portion of the estate was frustrated in advance by a provision bequeathing to any person claiming to be the illegitimate offspring of the decedent the sum of $50 cash. In the latter document this provision was eliminated, thus opening the way for any claimants to enter contest for an interest in the estate, and it is said-that at least three children claiming Fair as their father have engaged attorneys to prosecute their claims. These are the offspring of a woman who claims to have lived with Fair as his wife during the period that he spent in the mining region. Probably the most curious complication is that arising out of the claims of Baby Oelrichs, the little grandson of the decedent. In due course of time young Oelrichs, the little grandson of the decedent. In due course of time young Oelrichs, the little grandson of the decedent. In due course of time young Oelrichs, the little grandson of the decedent. In due course of time young Oelrichs, the little grandson of the attempt of his mother, Theresa A. Oelrichs; his aunit, Virginia Fair, and his uncle, Charles L. Fair, to probate the document written in lead pencil—the second will produced in court.

Under the provisions of the will first filed it is possible that at some time in the future Hermann Oelrichs, Jr., will come into undisputed possession of one-fourth of the entire Fair estate. Under the provisions of the will written in lead pencil—the second will produced in court.

Theresa Oelrichs, mother of little Hermann, is one of the petitioners, absolutely nothing except what his parents may choose to give him is left to the youngster; and the attorneys intend to break the second will if it is within their power to do so.

QUEER PEOPLE.

They Can Do Odd Things Which Puz-zle the Ordinary Mortal.

idents of London Answers have sent to that paper the following "postcard descriptions" of the oddest accomplishments ever noted by them:

A Queer Chap-Very.

A queer Chap—Very.

One day, some years ago, at East London, Cape Colony, the writer, whilst in the pay office of the Public Works Department, heard a man, who came to receive his monthly wage, ask for a second pen wherewith to sign the pay sheet.

The clerk somewhat impatiently handed him a second, remarking that "the first was a very good one." To the surprise of the onlookers, the man, with a pen in each hand, commenced simultaneously at the end and beginning of his name, and, writing rapidly, finished up in the middle of "John Watson."

The signature was in a fair round hand. Watson said "he could not write so as to be read unless he did it his own way!"

The Man With a Catapult Scalp. Many people can move their scalp freely ut few, I think, to such good purpose as a ertain man, for whose exceptional powers can vouch. The muscles of his scalp were so developed that he could shoot book placed on his head to a distance a book placed on his head to a distance of seven feet.

A well-known scientist, who was much interested in this accomplishment, asked him one day if any of his relations had the same skill. The man said he had no relations, except a cousin, whom he had never met, and he did not know whether he was similarly gifted.

The scientist took train and found the cousin, and asked him point blank if he could shy books off his head. The man calmly lifted a light book from the table, placed it on his head, and by a vigorous movement of the scalp, shot it across the room.

His Fifty-six-Pound Plaything. I know a man who, though not particularly strong, is able to accomplish a feat which I think many of the so-called "strong men" would fail in.

He can hold a 58-pound weight horizontally in his right hand, slowly bring it around to his back, jerk it over his left shoulder, and catch it in the palm of his right hand.

Very fair for "knack," I think.

Mumehtnasyrhe" Comes Easy to Her My sister has a peculiar accomplishment. Tell her a word—as long as you like, and one she has never heard before—and spell it to her once, and she is able to spell it backwards without hesitation.

I have never known her at fault.
Does it seem "easy" Try it. Very few people can even spell rapidly backwards a perfectly familiar word of more than four letters.

The Man With Dancing Fingers. The Man With Dancing Fingers.

I wonder whether any of the readers of Answers have heard of or seen "Quickfingered Jim?" He frequents public places in the big towns of the Midlands.

His queer accomplishment is the clever manner in which, by the use of two of his fingers on his left hand, he can imitate any style of dancing. Two midget shoes are fastened to his finger-ends, and it doesn't matter whether engaged imitating step dancing. Irish Jigs, or the Scotch sword-dance, the eccentric and clever movements of those fingers would cause even an editor to smile. He whistles his own accompaniments.

He Snored "The Lost Chord."

One day last autumn I met in the street a man carrying a bundle of thin, hollow, cane walking-sticks under his arm. He took one, and, placing the handle end to his nose, to my surprise, he began to play on it like a penny whistle, blowing it with his nostrils with the same ease and power that an ordinary person would with his mouth. I examined one of the sticks to see that

I knew a station-mester and his wife who had become so expert at reading and working the telegraphic instrument that they could sit, one on either side of the fire-place, and converse to each other quite easily by the action of the foot, the position indicating the movements of the needle.

The accomplishment was one which could be performed without attracting any at-tention, and was of use, therefore, on those frequent occasions when it was desirable to exchange marital confidences in the pres-ence of an unconscious third party.

Ugliness of a Great Princess. rom London Truth.

The Metternichs in Paris during the sec Empire made their mark at once by the style of their equipages, their aristocratic mode of spending money, the elegant figure of the Princess, her wondrous chic, her air of breeding, her wild spirits, cleverness in repartee, independent ways and insolence. Her striking but not disagreeable ugliness was also in her favor. It gave one an agreeable shock the first time one saw her. The face hardly seemed human. The flat nose, wide mouth, extending literally from ex. to ear, poor forehead and curious eyes were a survival of far-back Hunnish ancestors on the Sandor side. The figure was slender and flexible as a willow rod, and everything she wore suited her. She said and did exactly as she pleased: laid down the social law by going in for social lawlessness to the Empress Eugenie, and made Theresa the fashion by taking lessons from her. The opera and opera parties with their early part of the week quite gay, ireday was rather a red letter day, for the demi saison. There were half a dozen called by the death of Mr. Soott's mother. or more weddings, and in addition a reception at the Art Museum given by Mrs. Edward Hoyt and Miss Edith Field, assisted by Mrs. John Nickerson and Mrs. Moss, which proved a very interesting and successful affair, attended by the fashionable set as well as many literary and artistic lights. Mrs. Hoyt has truly a very artistic display of work, which places her easily in the foremost rank of amateur painters. One of them, "A Study in Gray," is an exquisite bit. "An Old Street in St. Augustine" is a charming study in the brilliant coloring of the tropics.

Miss Edith L. Field in her exhibit shows wonderful talent in modeling. Her portrait bust of Miss July Thompson is admirable; basides being an excellent likeness, the pose is very artistic and beautiful. This is one of a dozen excellent models, busts and medallions. Miss Lillian Brown, Miss Martha Hoke and Miss Shands had quite a coterie of friends about them, as did also Miss Cornelia Mowry, Miss Sophie Schuyler, Miss Ruth Sterling, Mrs. Blackman, all of whom had quite a number of pictures well worthy of extended mention. The gentlemen, all of them well-known artists, represented in this collection, were also in evidence, and being the only men present, formed several centers of attraction in various parts of the salons, their uncovered heads being barely visible, in the midst of high puffed sleeves and picturesque hats.

onitelatin AND CASSIE DACE WEPT.

All Because Atemus Harding Was Not Convicted of Assault.

Atemus Harding was Wednesday evening acquitted of the charge of assaulting 15-year-old Cassie Dade. The case came up fost irial in Justice Fred Cline's court at 717 Manchester avenue. All of the residents in the neighborhood turned out and the court room was packed, with ladies especially. These latter were also sympathizers of pretty little Cassie Date and hissed the defendant whenever he spoke. Judge Cline had a hard time to keep order when Harding testified. He said that Cassie was going to assault him and he merely pushed her away to protect himself.

Cassie told a different tale. She related that she was severely slapped by Harding. "I attended church and occupied a pew in front of Harding. He said something about my sister. I asked him after church was over why he said it and he slapped me." Cassie's sister, Hattie, acknowledged hitting Harding with a lump of mud.

"I saw him slap Cassie and then I threw the mud at him," said she.

When the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty" Attorney Hyde, for the defendant, addressed them, crediting them with good common sense. The ladies hissed him Judge Cline advised him that such comments were not necessary.

Cassie left the court room weeping.

HUFFMAN ARRESTED.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

CLARKSVILLE, Mo., April 25.—Because Jim Bernard, a young negro employed by Mrs. S. F. Mackey, south of town, refused to halt when he ordered him to do so Tom Smith, also colored, fired the contents of an old shotgun into his abdomen. It is not believed the shot penetrated the cavity. Smith, who is under arrest, claims he did not know the gun was loaded.

This Kitten was waterproof.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

SEACLIFFE, N. J., April 25.—Mrs. R. P.

Speed undertook the other day to drown a superfluous kitten, keeping it in a pail of water covered with a lid for three hours, when it was thrown into the back yard.

The mother gathered it up and resuscitated
it. Mrs. Speed will keep it for a mascot and believes cats have nine lives.

New Campaign Against Bath-house New Campaign Against Bath-houses.

It is said that the police in their efforts to improve the moral tone of the Central District, will begin war anew on the bath-house keepers. As Judge Murphy discharged the Bartholomew woman, on an appeal from the First District Police Court, where she was fined $50 by Judge Morris, for violating a city ordinance, the police have no hope of convicting these offenders under the city ordinances. Now, it is said, the police will endeavor to get warrants against the bath-house keepers under a section of the statutes making it a felony for persons to hang out deceptive signs.

GURDON, Ark., April 25.-Pursuant to resolutions adopted by the Anti-Cotton Growers' League, recently formed in this We Ask the Opportunity to Compete on Any Job. section, this year's acreage of cotton will be greatly reduced in proportion to that of preceding years. Many prominent agriculturists throughout this section are closely identified in the movement, and are determined in their efforts to rule against the enormous and unprofitable production of cotton. In a circular addressed to the farmers, the operators of the league importune planters to direct their attention and combine every available effort toward a more lucrative plan of farming, suggesting that they ought now and forever to realize their independence of cotton, and turn their attention to the production of grains and stock raising. The advantages set forth by the league are numerous, and its directors are rewarded by the satisfaction of knowing that numerous planters are speedily adopting the plan of relief suggested—many of them planting no cotton whatever. It is estimated that the acreage throughout this section has been reduced exceeding, on an average, one-half of that planted last year. this year's acreage of cotton will RAILROAD 210 N. 4th St. Branch, 1807 Market St. Headquarters for telephones for ex-
